To Whom It May Concern:

In 2008 we were looking to hire a contractor for an extensive kitchen remodel as well as to work on other needed improvements in our home. We contacted a few commercial builders and they referred us to Freyenhagen Construction, since Jeremy specializes in remodel work.

We met with Jeremy a few times prior to the start of construction in order to work out the details. We also spent extensive time on the phone revisiting specific concerns. Jeremy was very patient and willing to work through the many questions we had. He was always available by cell phone as well, and we appreciated that he was very clear about the direction in which we were headed. His crew was extremely polite and impressed us with the manner in which they kept the worksite clean and paid attention to detail.

Timely construction with friendly, professional people is extremely hard to find these days. The quality of service and workmanship was important to us, and Freyenhagen exceeded our expectations. They did what they said they would, and actually finished on time as well. We would recommend them to anyone looking for an exceptional construction company.
