TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Recently, we did an extensive remodel of our home. We had been thinking of doing it for several years, and in August 1997, we "took the plunge." The remodel consisted of adding a second story (800 square feet) to our one-story home.

We contracted with Jeremy Freyenhagen to do the project and were very pleased with the thoroughness of his work, timeliness and desire to do a quality job. In addition, since we were living in the house at the time of the remodel - amidst all the commotion - we noticed Jeremy's personable nature, honesty and consideration. He was very easy to work with and we would not hesitate to hire him again.

The project took about 2 months - just as Jeremy had estimated. We have a very busy household. A project of this size would disrupt any home and could be disastrous for that period of time. However, Jeremy took special measures to separate his work area from the rest of our house and to caution us about safety around the work area.

We conferred with Jeremy several times before the start of the project to review plans. Before the building began, he had on-site conferences with the sub-contractors (plumber, electrician, heating and cooling technician, etc.). Once started, the remodeling went ahead like clock-work. In addition, Jeremy's estimate of the cost of the project was accurate. His detailed planning paved the way for those accomplishments.

Ours is a happy remodeling story - thanks to Jeremy's good work. We are very glad we did it and would gladly to do it again. We are happy to recommend Jeremy Freyenhagen as a construction or remodeling contractor.
